
Potential movement in the great money caper

Posted by tateeskew - 2008/11/04 11:32

we are thinking within the next month there will be movement on the stolen cashola as amy and i will be in court. our lawyer says that it's almost a given that we will get our money. that means drying in the studio could happen in december.

so...

would everyone want to setup a weekend day sometime within the next two weekends before thanksgiving to come out and do some brush clearing around the studio structure?

we can have dinner afterwards. drinks and good food.

anyone in?

=====

Re:Potential movement in the great money caper

Posted by SSullivan - 2008/11/04 15:24

Hey Tate, I'm recording Andy's band the next three Sundays, but Friday's and Saturday's would be fine, any weekend.

=====

Re:Potential movement in the great money caper

Posted by tateeskew - 2009/02/05 17:58

a settlement has been reached. this bullshit is over. we didn't get all of the money, but it's good to just be done with this shit.

now, to move forward with the zero art project. going to plan another get together soon.

=====